

Code of Behaviour

Maryfield College
Glandore Road,
Drumcondra,
Dublin 9.

Introduction

The Code of Behaviour is a set of practices and procedures that together form the school's plan for supporting students to behave appropriately and learn effectively. It also helps the school community to demonstrate the school's ethos and values as outlined in the schools Mission Statement. The Code of Behaviour assists the students in reflecting upon the consequences of their behaviour on themselves and others.

Mission Statement

We acknowledge that it is through our relationships with others that we grow to our full potential. Therefore we aspire to create an educational environment where pupils come to learn and to understand themselves, their abilities and their world. In this environment they are taught to take responsibility for themselves and for their behaviour.

We, in the school community, are guided by the teaching of Jesus, who urged us to love God and one another as oneself, as a way of life that would bring us to self-fulfilment.

We teach and learn respect for one another and our world, accept our differences and acknowledge our interdependence. In doing so, particular attention is paid to those in most need of our help.

Maryfield College as a teaching and learning community recognises the interdependence of management, teachers, pupils and parents in the process of forming happy, secure, well-educated and productive young people. The school endeavours to ensure that it provides: a healthy balance between academic, social and spiritual development in an environment that is welcoming and friendly, where a caring relationship is evident between staff, parents and pupils, where each one is accepted, respected and appreciated through a value system that embodies the teachings of Christ, based on the Christian ideals of freedom, truth, love, justice and self-discipline

In developing the Code of Behaviour for Maryfield College the NEWB 2008 "Guidelines for developing a Code of Behaviour" were used and informed the process. There are other key legal instruments that inform the content and elements of this Code of Behaviour, they include:

Education Act, 1998

Education Welfare Act, 2000

NCSE and NEPS – The Continuum of Support model as outlined in Circular 0014/17 is central to the Stages of Support and interventions within the Code.

The Rationale and Principles of our Code of Behaviour

As a community of learners, Maryfield College works in a holistic manner to ensure that dependence is gradually replaced by responsibility for self, society and the world. The dignity of each student, staff member, and parent is respected and reflected in school policies and structures, including this policy. While educational excellence is promoted, it is the needs of the learner that direct the development of the school.

The Board of Management, the Principal, the Deputy Principal and Senior Management of the school will support teachers in their efforts to create a positive teaching and learning environment. Our Code of Behaviour has been developed in consultation with the Parents Association, the Student Council, teaching staff and the Board of Management. Teachers will endeavour to foster and promote a varied and positive learning environment enabling each student to maximise their individual potential. The school, through information sessions, meetings with parents, open nights and the school journal seek to foster and promote a partnership between school and home.

The aims of the Code of Behaviour are:

- To support teaching and learning and create a safe and secure positive learning environment for all members of the school community.
- To support the students in taking responsibility for themselves and their behaviour and develop their sense of compassion for others.
- To foster a school community where courtesy and good manners are demonstrated by all and where all members have respect for themselves, for others, for their community and the environment.
- To support students in their social, emotional, personal, academic and spiritual development.
- To ensure that effective procedures are in place, which allows for the day to day running of the school.
- To encourage students to actively engage in all aspects of school life and develop a sense of belonging and pride in their school community.
- To foster a school community where there is willingness to accept differences.
- To work respectfully with others in cases where conflicts arise and to actively participate in resolving conflicts and accepting and seeking forgiveness.

Ways in which good behaviour is rewarded

In Maryfield College we expect students to consistently engage in positive and good behaviour. We also believe that it is important to celebrate positive behaviour and the positive contributions that students make to school life and the school community. This may be done in a variety of ways in the classroom, through extra-curricular activities and whole school events.

Examples may include:

- Displays of students work along the corridors and in the classrooms.
- Acknowledgement of student achievement at assembly.
- Student participation at assembly.
- Articles posted on the school website.
- Whole school celebrations for the achievement of school awards.
- Positive notes from Class Teacher, Class Tutor and/or Year Head in the school journal.
- Individual Class Teacher reward systems.
- Positive peer review in class.
- Self-reflective comments by students.
- Class prefects, in their role as mentors, encourage good behaviour.
- Tracking positive behaviour of students by the Year Head
- Recording positive behaviours on VS Ware by teachers and Year Heads

This list is not exhaustive.

School Supports & Special Education Teaching Supports

In Maryfield College the Special Educational Teaching (SET) Team and the Guidance & Counselling Department work with all staff in the school to support the positive behaviour of our students. They ensure that the Code of Behaviour is aligned with the Continuum of Support (COS) model below which is used by National Educational Psychological Service (NEPS) and Department of Education and Skills (DES).

The work of these departments involves liaising with Teachers, Year Heads, Senior Management and parents and guardians and students. They also make referrals to outside agencies e.g. NEPS to ensure the best outcome for the students of Maryfield College. The COS is an integral part of the whole school approach to positive behaviour.

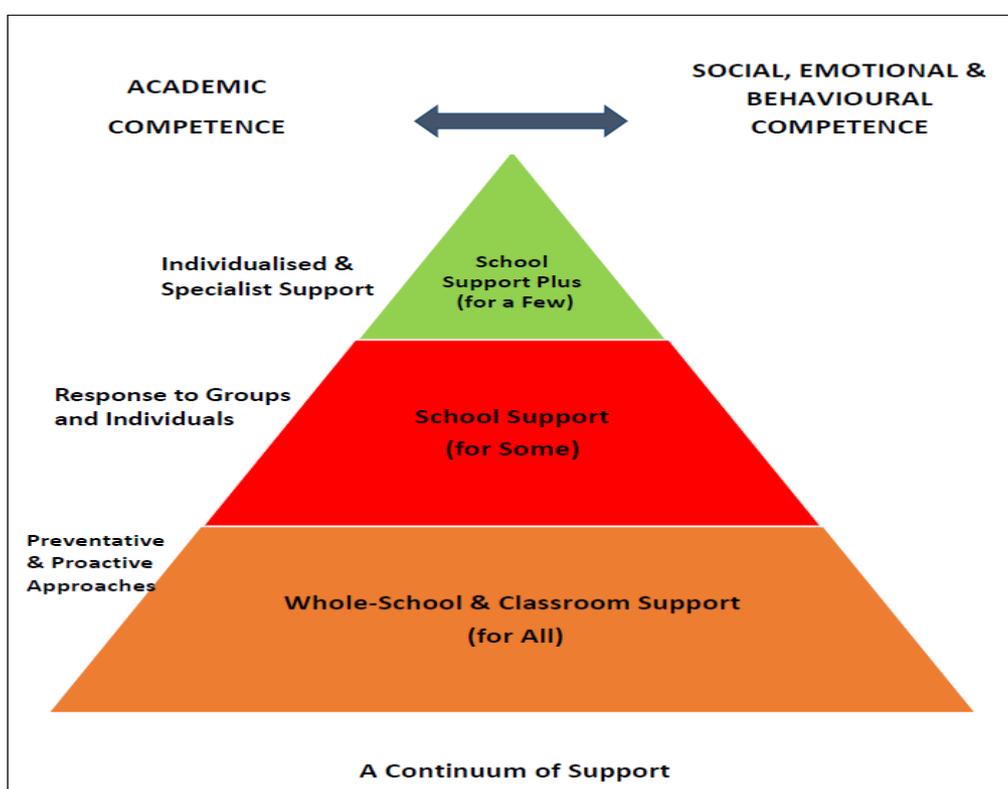

The Levels of Support at Maryfield College follow this evidenced based approach.

Use of Continuum of Support Model –

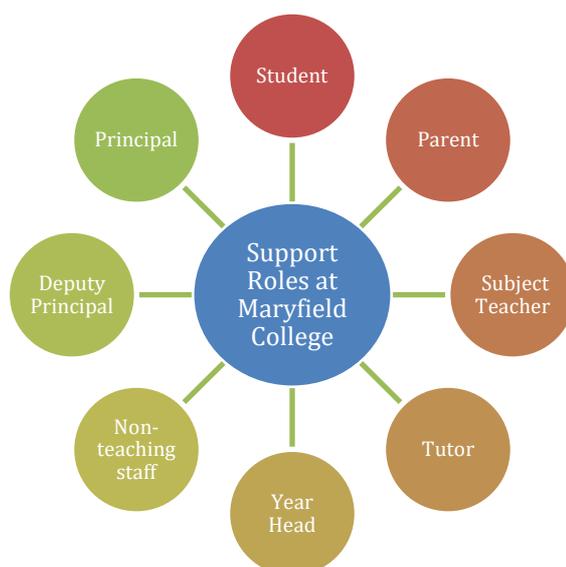

Level 1 Support for All

Level 2 Support for Some

Level 3 Support for Few

Overview of Key Roles in Code.

Role of the Student

It is our expectation in Maryfield College that students will on all occasions and in all circumstances uphold the Code of Behaviour.

- In the event that a student is late for school they must retrieve a late slip from the school office upon their arrival and present it to their class teacher for their signature.
- In the event that a student must leave school for an unavoidable reason before the end of the school day they must present an explanatory note signed by their parents or guardians to their year head or Deputy Principal and sign out in the school office before they leave. Notes to leave school early must be placed in the correct post box in the front hall by the student. In this event students do not need to be collected by their parents.
- On returning to school after an illness students must present a note explaining their absence to their Year Head.

- Use the official student note booklet provided to all students at the beginning of 1st Year in Maryfield College for all notes.

Behaviour in class:

Break times, food & drinks:

- Only eat during break time and lunchtime and only in designated eating areas and not on the corridors or in the locker areas. Hot drinks are only permitted in designated eating areas. 4th, 5th and 6th Year students must follow the instructions from staff when carrying hot food from the canteen to the assembly hall and classrooms.
- Store school bags in assigned locations at lunchtime when using the school canteen. 1st Year bags under the stairs beside the canteen. 2nd and 3rd Year bags in the racks outside the canteen doors.
- Only fill water bottles at break and lunchtime.
- Stay 'in view' at all times during break time and lunchtime. The back of the school, the gable ends of the school and all carpeted areas inside the school building are 'out of bounds' at lunchtime.
- 4th, 5th and 6th Year students leaving school at lunchtime are only permitted to do so upon production of their lunch time pass to the teacher on lunch time supervision at the school gate.
- Keep their classrooms and common areas clean and tidy and use the correct bins for their waste. Maryfield College is a Green School and students play a part in maintaining this status.

- In the event that a parent/guardian must contact their child during the school day this must only be done through the school office. This prevents the student from breaching the school mobile phone policy.
- In the case of a family emergency where the need arises to withdraw their child from school, parents and guardians must make contact with the school office in the first instance.
- Attend Parent Teacher Meetings every year to receive feedback from teaching staff in relation to their child's progress in all subjects and also be available to meet with class teachers, year heads, Deputy Principal and Principal when requested to do so.
- Share relevant family / student information with the appropriate school personnel.

Stages of Support at Maryfield College

Teachers will use the Stages of Support to help students reflect on and improve their behaviour when a misdemeanour occurs. The higher up the Stages of Support the student moves, the more serious the behaviour and hence the level of interventions and consequence. The emphasis at all stages is to support and help the student to improve their behaviour and to prevent re-offending. Extra supports may be put in place for students who find it difficult to abide by the code of behaviour. It is important that a student understands how their behaviour impacts on themselves, their fellow students and teachers and on the process of teaching and learning. The student should also understand the purpose of the sanction.

Ladder of Referral

Step One: Class Tutors & Teachers use the following sanctions in classrooms: give verbal warnings, assign extra homework, rearrange seating, and/or send note to parents via school journal (see role of the Class Tutor and Class Teacher). The teacher keeps a record of all inappropriate behaviour.

Step Two: If the pupil continues to behave inappropriately, the teacher refers the matter to the Year Head by completing an Incident Sheet and or behaviour report on VS Ware. The pupil is informed of the completion of the incident sheet or VS Ware report.

Step Three: The Year Head speaks to pupil about their behaviour and warns them that an accumulation of incident sheets will result in after school detention. An accumulation of five incident sheets is considered sufficient for sanction to be implemented.

Step Four: If the behaviour continues, the Year Head will recommend to Deputy Principal that the pupil be detained after school and a text is sent to parents.

Step Five: If there is no improvement, the Year Head may put the pupil 'on report' for 5 days. The Year Head will inform parents of the need for this action. The pupil must show the report sheet to the teacher at the start of each lesson and ask the teacher to give written feedback and sign the report sheet at the end of the class. The report sheet is to be signed by parents. After 5 days the situation is reviewed.

Step Six: If there is no improvement, Deputy Principal and year head will arrange a meeting with parents in school. Counselling services are offered and other agencies may be contacted.

Step Seven: If there is no improvement, the Deputy Principal will refer the matter to the School Principal. The Principal may decide to issue further detentions or to suspend the pupil from school for. (see Suspension Policy).

Step Eight: Frequent suspensions may result in expulsion. (see Expulsion Policy).

- When a student's enduring behaviour has a seriously detrimental effect on the education of other students.
- When a student is responsible for serious damage to property.
- When a student's language and/or behaviour presents a serious risk to the safety of other students.
- In the event of a student refusing to comply with school management and in consultation with the parents/guardians, the student may be sent home (with a view of a suspension to follow). This will be recorded on VShare.

Behaviour Management Plan (Student Support File or Personalised Pupil Plan)

Suspension is not regarded as an isolated event but as part of an overall behaviour management plan for the student in question. Therefore:

- Suspension gives a student a chance to reflect on their actions and the consequences involved.
- Suspension will enable the school to set behavioural goals with both the students and their respective parents.
- Suspension will give school staff an opportunity to plan other interventions for the student in question.
- Suspension will impress on a student and their parents/guardians the seriousness of this behaviour.

Procedures for Suspension

Where serious misbehaviour warrants suspension, the school authorities will implement the following procedures:

- Examine the evidence and investigate.
- Inform the student and their parents/guardians about the incident.
- Give written confirmation of the suspension to Parent /Guardian.
- Give parents and student an opportunity to respond.
- Inform parents/guardians of their right to appeal the suspension to the BOM.
- All parties will communicate to resolve the issue and, upon resolution, outline the arrangements for returning to school.

The Period of Suspension

A student will normally be suspended for 1-3 school days. In exceptional circumstances, the Principal may consider that a period of suspension longer than three days and up to 5 days is necessary. All suspensions are reported to TUSLA on the annual returns. The decision to suspend for longer than three days will also be reported to TUSLA in a timely manner.

If a suspension longer than five days is being proposed by the Principal, the matter will be referred to the BOM for consideration.

The BOM will formally review any proposal to suspend a student, where the suspension would bring the number of days for which the student has been suspended in the current school year to twenty days or more. Any such suspension is subject to appeal under Section 29 of the Education Act 1998

Return from Suspension

Upon returning from suspension, the student will be required to agree to a behaviour management plan that will address and improve his/her behaviour.

This will:

- Impress on the student and their parents the seriousness of the behaviour.
- Enable the school to set specific behavioural goals for and with the student and their parents and guardians.
- Although a record will be kept of the behaviour and any sanction imposed, a student will be afforded the necessary support on their return.
- Details of the suspension will be recorded on VSware.

Reports to TUSLA

The Principal is required to report suspensions in accordance with the NEWB reporting guidelines - Education and Welfare Act, 2000, section 21(4) (a).

Review of use of Suspension

The Board of Management will regularly assess and review the use of suspension as an appropriate sanction in the school.

Expulsion Policy

A student is expelled from the school when the BOM (in compliance with the provisions of Section 24 of the Education and Welfare Act 2000) decides to permanently exclude him or her from the school.

Authority to Expel

Only The Board of Management has the authority to expel a student.

The Ground for Expulsion

Expulsion will be a proportionate response to the student's behaviour.

A proposal to expel a student requires serious grounds such as:

- When the student's behaviour is a persistent cause of significant disruption to the learning of others and/or to the teaching process.
- When the students continued presence in the school constitutes a real and significant threat to safety of both students and staff.
- When the student is responsible for serious damage to property.
- When the student's behaviour interferes with other student's constitutional right to education.

In addition to above factors, it is important to note that before expulsion is considered, the school will have exhausted all other reasonable possibilities (including all appropriate interventions - as outlined and detailed in this Code of Behaviour).

Expulsion for a First Offence

There may be exceptional circumstances where the BOM forms the opinion that a student should be expelled for a first offence. The kinds of behaviour that might result in a proposal to expel on this basis include:

- An explicit serious threat of violence
- Actual violence or physical assault
- Supplying illegal drugs
- Sexual assault

This list is not exhaustive

Procedures in Respect of Expulsion

When proposing to expel a student, Maryfield College will follow the procedures prescribed under the Education (Welfare) Act, 2000.

Where a preliminary assessment of the facts confirms serious misbehaviour that in turn, could warrant expulsion, the procedural steps will include:

1. A detailed investigation carried out under the direction of the Principal.
2. A recommendation to the Board of Management by the Principal.
3. Consideration by the BOM of the Principal's recommendation and the holding of a hearing, which will include the parents/guardians of the student and a hearing which will also allow the student the opportunity to present himself or/herself.
4. Board of Management deliberations and actions following the hearing.
5. Consultations, if any, arranged by the Educational Welfare Officer.
6. Confirmation of the decision to expel.
7. The Board of Management will formally confirm the decision to expel.
8. Parents/Guardians and the student will be told about their right to appeal and supplied with the standard form on which to lodge the appeal.
9. The decision and process in expelling the student will be formally recorded.

Appeals

A parent, or student over eighteen years, may appeal a decision on expulsion to the Secretary General of the Department of Education and Science (Education Act 1998 Section 29). The National Educational Welfare Board may also lodge an appeal on behalf of a student

Review of use of Expulsion

The Board of Management will regularly assess and review the use of expulsion as an appropriate sanction in the school
